

It's all about the votives baby! Written by Roberta M. Rosa

What haven't I said about votives that I haven't said about everything else? Ok, I know. Fire never looked so pretty.

We Mijas LOVE us some candles don't we? Votives as we all know should never be over looked, of course. They smell good and come in wonderful colors. Pero, at times we fail to see the art of the votive holder.

I just recently bought this beautiful 3 panel votive holder for $161.00. I know you must be saying to yourself, "This chick MUST be crazy!" I really am not. Candle light relaxes me. It sets such a peaceful, welcoming and romantic mood. When lit all you can really do is stand in awe of it and appreciate its beauty. There are so many votive holders you can choose from that will set the theme of your room. The one I purchased goes well in my dining room; I call it the Madrid room. My guests love it. Something about it just hugs you and says, "Welcome you're safe here." (Until you drop it.) haha

After my whole medical ordeal, I learned to not put a price on relaxation. Do what you must do to make you feel at home in your home.
